Give your teen a STEP UP with three days of practical leadership experience.

On average teens are online 9 hours a day. 1 in 3 report using technology almost constantly. As FaceTime replaces face time, there has never been a more important time to focus on personal connection and leadership.

April Farlow has taught over 30,000 individuals with audiences of all backgrounds. She will lead this three day interactive experience focused specifically for rising 10th - 12th graders. This is a STEP UP to intentionally plan for the future through focus on speaking, communication styles, values and business etiquette, scholarships and leadership.
